WATERLOO
MATHEMATICS

The 2014 CCC was quite positive.

Certainly, many students found the Junior problem set to be very easy (with a very large number of perfect scores). We will endeavour to make it more slightly more challenging next year, but making it both accessible and challenging is, well, challenging. As always, students who do well on the Junior are encouraged to strive for the Senior competition.

The Senior problem set had a much better distribution of scores, and although the increase in difficulty in the last three questions was steep, many students still attempted and had success with some partial solutions to the last three questions.

The On-line CCC Grader was a very huge success, thanks mostly to the hard work of Andy Kong (a former CCC, IOI and UW student, I might add) in getting the grader to use cloud-based systems to distribute the work much more efficiently. We had over 30000 submissions during the day of the contest, and the wait-time for responses for the system was never more than 2 minutes. We will continue to expand the On-line CCC Grader and hope even more schools choose to use it in 2015.

As one more plug, remember that if you would like to learn to use Python (which the CCC On-line Grader can accept), check out the CS Circles On-line Resource at:

`cscircles.cemc.uwaterloo.ca`

We continued the collaboration with Tsinghua University in Beijing and the University of Hong Kong to offer the contest to Beijing and Hong Kong high school students. This was the 10th year of collaboration with HKU, and it has been a rewarding experience for both UW and HKU. More information (including results) can be found at: <http://ccc.cs.tsinghua.edu.cn/> and <http://www.cs.hku.hk/ccc2014/>. As in previous years, the organizers from Tsinghua and HKU collaborated with UW to create a contest different than the Canadian CCC.

Below, a qualitative summary of both the Junior and Senior contest is presented.

I hope you found the contest this year interesting and educational, fun and intriguing. Thanks for being a part of it.
